Introducing the Benro KoalaPod. A Tree Hugging Tripod.

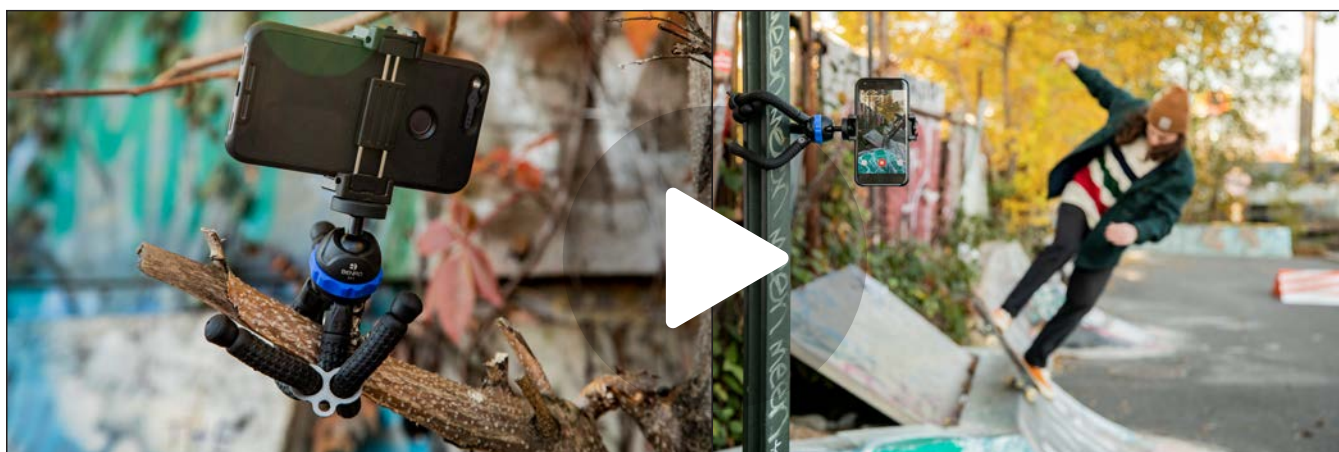

Get ready to flex your creative muscles with the innovative, flexible Koalapod from Benro. This versatile support system features flexible rubber legs and feet for security and stability almost anywhere.

Snap Selfies, tackle tabletop shots, or get grippy to, something nearby. Whatever the scenario may be the KoalaPod is the way to go.

The Koalapod is ideal for mobile devices and small compact cameras. The head features a 1/4"-20 mounting thread, with a built-in ballhead to level your shot with ease. Koalapod can go vertical for going live on social media or make video calls on the go. The included locking ring prevents stress on the legs increasing the lifespan. When mounting to an object, simply insert the leg into the auxiliary lock ring and bend the leg to lock.

A quick lock clamp is also included which clips the legs together, so they don't drift apart. Three built-in accessory mounts allow you to add additional arms, or mount audio gear, LED lights and more. The KoalaPod is available by itself and in kit form.

The standalone KoalaPod includes the quick-lock clamp and auxiliary locking ring and drawstring bag. While the KoalaPod Kit includes the quick-lock clamp, auxiliary ring, as well as a folding phone clip, 2 additional expanding arms and drawstring bag.

By unscrewing the rubber feet, you will reveal the built-in screw and threads, to connect the optional leg extension for gripping around larger objects. And when you're done shooting, throw your Koalapod in the included drawstring bag, and you're ready to move. No matter the shot or angle, don't fret, Let's Go capture it, with the Benro KoalaPod.
